

The countryside charity
Sussex

Trustees & Officers standing for election or re-election if retiring by rotation in accordance with the CIO Constitution

Josh Lelliott: is an experienced finance professional and chartered accountant, living in Balcombe, West Sussex. He is passionate about rural affairs and the British countryside and, as Treasurer, brings his skills and experience to help to make a positive difference to Sussex. Having grown up in the Sussex, he holds a profound appreciation for its diverse natural beauty, from the South Downs and High Weald to the vibrant coastlines, including Chichester Harbour. He believes we have a duty to protect these wonderful places and the countryside way of life.

Professionally, Josh works in corporate finance where he advises clients on mergers, acquisitions and fundraisings across a range of sectors. He is also treasurer and trustee for two community owned biodynamic farms near Forest Row.

Sally Pavey: is a resident of the parish of Warnham, West Sussex, having moved there with her family 23 years ago from Surrey. Sally has over 38 years' experience of international marketing, PR, event management and is currently employed as a consultant. Over the years Sally has worked in national media, pharmaceutical, business to business and beauty. As a volunteer she has organised charity events for Cancer Research, St Catherine's Hospice, Prince's Youth Business Trust as well as professionally business-to-business international events here and abroad. Sally is chair of CAGNE, Communities Against Gatwick Noise Emissions, founded in February 2014 due to Gatwick Airport placing a new flight path over parishes not previously affected by aircraft noise. CAGNE is now the umbrella aviation community and environment group for Sussex, Surrey and Kent opposing a second runway being built at Gatwick and changes to flight paths through the impending modernisation of airspace. CAGNE has a large membership and is supported by elected members, historic and nature organisations, branches of CPRE and NGOs. She is Chair of Warnham Parish Council.

For leisure Sally loves nature, gardening, walking her dogs and horse riding having been an accomplished show jumper.

Penelope Hudd: studied Design at the Hornsey College of Art in London and Landscape Architecture at Harvard in the USA where she went on to practice as a designer for ten years, working for The Architects Collaborative, and Benjamin Thompson & Associates.

Moving to Hong Kong she worked with architects GMW and for the Hong Kong Government. On her return to the UK she maintained her design practice while moving into design education, initially as a senior lecturer at Norwich School of Art. This was followed by a move to Glasgow School of Art where she was Head of the Graphic Design Department and then to London to take on the role of Head of the School of Design at Kingston University.

She has been an academic advisor and external examiner in the UK, at the Royal College of Art, Central St Martins, the University of Central Lancashire, University of the Arts, the University of Brighton and in Europe for the Austrian Education Department. She was also for several years a Governor of City College, now Brighton Metropolitan College.

Penny has been an active member and Trustee of CPRE Sussex since 2010.

The countryside charity
Sussex

Dan Osborn is founding Editor-in-Chief of UCL Open: Environment a multi-disciplinary academic journal publishing across many aspect of the open environment and that on which we live. His own research interests concern how people's wellbeing relates to their environment and its natural resources.

Dan is works closely with the Sussex Community Development Association (SCDA) and offers advice on the environment in SCDA's work with Sussex communities. He is a member of the Sussex Nature partnership's Health and Wellbeing Sub-Group.

Dan is President of the South Downs Network, a grouping of Sussex and Hampshire environment bodies with interests in the South Downs National Park.

Dan has worked with businesses, charities, national and local government in the UK and with the European Commission and various Parliamentary groups on a range of legislative and best practice issues. Much of this work has involved protecting the health and wellbeing people and the environment and ensuring that resources, such as water, are used more sustainably. Partnership working to co-produce knowledge and use it is an underlying theme of much of this work.